

Religious education in public schools in Kosovo

Ejup Ramadani

Genuine education, what does it look like!

There is so much education over the globe today and it has always been. Apparently for the benefit of humanity.

There are so many universities, so many schools, so many teachers and knowledge-hungry youngsters around the world. What is being served to them as genuine religious education is a hard topic, always under permanent debate.

On the other hand, so many systems and doctrines, so many religions: those with holy scripts and so many man-made religions too. They all offer teaching and principals. Which one to follow.

So many world doctrines, supported by governments inside and outside. Which one to follow.

The topic is immensely large and it is not my target here. Kosovo is a newborn country. So many challenges ahead. Are we being threatened by indoctrination and brainwash?
